SOCIAL CREDIT RETURNED

The largest majority in the history of the province was recorded for Social Credit in the election last Thursday. At the time of early returns, it looked as though the sweep would be a full one hundred per cent, but later recounts and use of second,
third and fourth choices gave Social Credit a total of some fifty-six out of sixty-three seats.

In the majority of ridings a second count was not necessitated, one of the closest being in the Rocky Mountain constituency, where Ernest O.
Duke, Social Credit candidate, obtained
but sufficient over all.

Mr. Duke will represent this riding in the new government to be formed in the next two weeks.

Mr. Aberhart has been chosen and has accepted the premiership, and has already mentioned some of those selected by him as cabinet ministers.
A meeting is being held in Edmonton
this week end, but in the meantime,
Premier Reid holds the reins of office.

As far as the Crow's Nest part of the Rocky Mountain riding was concerned, election day was one of the most orderly ever experienced.

GOVERNMENT STOPS PAYMENT ON SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

EDMONTON, Aug. 27.—Temporary suspension of payments by the Alberta Government on savings certificates until such time as the new Social Credit government can meet the situation which involves questions of policy that must be determined by the new ministry, was announced by Premier Reid today, following a lengthy meeting with members of his cabinet.

Mr. Reid, through the announcement, is notifying the public that the presentation of demands for payments should be withheld until the new government has had time to make arrangements necessary to deal with the situation. Mr. Aberhart, Social Credit leader, was notified of the government's action. Mr. Aberhart assured the people of Alberta that there was no need for alarm.

CHANGES IN THE GAME REGULATIONS

Important changes in the game regulations of the province, which include reduction of game fees in many instances, have been announced. One of the most important will permit residents of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or British Columbia to hunt bird game in Alberta for a fee of $2.00, provided they are holders of game
bird licenses in their own provinces.
This is a reduction from $10.00.

Resident outfitters' licenses within forest reserves are reduced from $25 to $15. The resident big game license is cut from $2 to $1, and the resident bird game fee from $2.50 to $2.00. The resident special elk license is cut from $10 to $5, and there is no longer any special license necessary for bear in the forest reserve, this being absorbed in the general
big game license.

There will be an entire closed season on swans, cranes, pheasants, ptarmigan and blue grouse, ruffed grouse and spruce partridge.

There will be a ten-day open season for prairie chicken, from October 1st to 10th, in the territory lying south of the North Saskatchewan river and west of the Calgary-Edmonton line and the Calgary-Macleod line of the C.P.R., and west of the line between ranges 25 and 26 to the international border.

Open season for Hungarian partridge south of the main line of the C.P.R. across the province will be from September 16th to November 30th, and in the territory north of the main line of the C.P.R. from October 1st to November 30th. There is no change with respect to the duck season.

Bag limit on mountain goat has been increased from one to two.

Females and young elk with less than eight points are protected.

There is an entire closed season on badger.

The use of rifles in killing waterfowl is prohibited. The migratory birds convention act carries this prohibition, and it is now included in the Alberta game act.

Queen Astrid, of Belgium, was killed in an auto accident in Switzerland last night.

COLEMAN ELKS CARNIVAL

Coleman Elks will hold their annual carnival in the Crystal Rink on Saturday and Monday, September 6 and 7th, at which a record attendance and an abundance of joy is promised.

In view of the fact that the Demunion election has been set for October 14th, Premier Bennett has announced that Thanksgiving Day will be observed in Canada on October 24th, instead of the 7th, as formerly proposed.

DEATH OF MRS. J. D. MATHESON

Mrs. Matheson, wife of Judge J.
D. Matheson, passed away at Grande Prairie on Saturday morning, following a brief illness.

Mrs. Matheson was born in the north of Scotland about sixty years ago, and came to Nova Scotia with her parents when quite young. Mr.
and Mrs. Matheson were married at Halifax and came west to Edmonton in 1912, and to Macleod in 1916,
where they resided till May, 1934,
when they moved to Grande Prairie on the appointment of Mr. Matheson as district court judge of the Peace River judicial district.

During the eighteen years that Mrs. Matheson resided in Macleod, co-woman was more highly respected and loved. She took an active interest in many organizations, especially in matters connected with St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where she was a devoted member and for many years was president of the Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. Matheson will be buried in Edmonton this afternoon.

The sincerest sympathy of their many friends goes to Judge Matheson in his sudden bereavement.

Some women dress to please men,
and some to worry other women.

E. L. Gray, deputy minister of municipal affairs for the Alberta government, has resigned to accept the position of manager of the new Eastern irrigation district, formerly operated by the C.P.R. east of Calgary, with headquarters at Brooks. Mr.
Gray has been an official of the Alberta government for some years, being originally with the department of agriculture.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miss the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she takes him the wrong way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to look after Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is alone, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Nancy and Matthew Adam go Christmas shopping in a neighboring town. On their return to Pine Ridge, Nancy is anxious to see Pine Columbine residence all at up, and asks Matthew if he knows why. He said: Let's go in and see. Then Nancy learns that she is having her debut, but in a different setting than had been planned for her in Boston.

"She was a courageous woman, my mother, but I have sometimes wondered what was in her heart as she set me on my feet and moved toward that door, unarmed. Did she expect to confront a band of roving savages? What met her eyes was a single brave, and a boy of, possibly, seven years old. No doubt the Indian looked sinister enough. Only the week before a woman not many miles away had been scalped and mutilated. The horror of that story was still upon her; yet she did what had been the only thing that protected herself and me. My mother smiled! It was, I imagine, a smile born out of terror, but to that grim-visaged Indian it was a gesture of friendliness. Who knows but had there been more such gestures, one page of our history would have been less tragic. And then, although her hands were so tightly clenched that (she found later) the nails had pierced her flesh, she looked straight up at him and said two words—words which sounded strange to her own ears in such a moment. Perhaps you have guessed them, for what my wonderful little mother said was: 'Merry Christmas!'"

Miss Columbine paused, and there was silence until Aurora Tubbs exclaimed: "But you ain't tellin' us that that wild Injun knew what she said, Miss Columbine! It's not believable."

"The old lady seemed to be looking at something far away," said Aurora. "Not the words," she answered, "but perhaps he understood the words."

"It was a wonderful debut!"

"It was a wonderful debut!"

"It was a wonderful debut!"

It was at Christmas dinner that Nancy divulged her plan for the Aladdin Library, a proposition which met with instant enthusiasm. John Adam readily agreed to supply the sign and one day in January Mark brought it in from the ranch.

"Dad's been so temperamental you'd think he was painting a picture for the Art Museum," he declared. "Honestly, Nancy, when you wished this job on him, that man's neglected his cooking shamefully, but the sign's a corker."

"I'll say it is!" Nancy spoke almost with awe. "I never expected smile; and she spoke gently. He came into the room, followed by his boy, and stood, arms folded, looking down at that small, gay tree and that happy little girl who knew no fear. For a moment I was too absorbed to note the callers; then, glancing up suddenly, I laughed with pleasure. Here was another child! I held my doll aloft so that the Indian boy could see it. "Look!" I cried joyously. "My new doll! Best!"

"The boy reached out and took it from me, his white teeth gleaming in a quick smile. The man grunted something unintelligible and moved nearer the tree. He seemed, my mother told me, both puzzled and admiring; like a big child wondering what it was all about. He touched a yellow butterfly made from a scrap of paper; said something more, letting his glance rove slowly about the room. Her heart quickened as the eyes rested on the rifle; then suddenly when he made no move to touch it. The boy, still admiring my homemade doll, said something rapidly and took from his neck a string of beads, holding them out to me. It was, my mother understood, meant as an exchange for my clasp bracelet. When he made no move to touch it, she said: "See darling, he has brought you a Christmas gift! Let him keep your doll. I have another exactly like it for you; and this poor boy has no lovely tree, perhaps no mother. Tell him to keep it!"

"My lip trembled, but I took the beads and put them about my neck, and suddenly I was enraptured with this new treasure. Apparently I was desirous of doing something for the other Indian, for I lifted the paper butterfly from its branch and held it out to him. He took it, and said: 'Merry Christmas!'"

A breath of pleasure swept through her audience as Cousin Columbine ceased speaking; then she continued: "I seem to remember the Indian stooping to take my offering. I know he smiled, though that in something my mother never corroborated. He grunted a word or two, intended, she was sure, as thanks; gave one more curious look at the small tree; and then they left us, those strange, strange Christmas guests, mourning the loss of the forest, and disarmed, my father used to say, by a smile of welcome."

"And did you ever see them again?" questioned Eve Adam, her low voice very gentle.

"Never again," said she, "but I saw where they were going, we never knew. And only a half hour later there sounded close to that well-barred door, the clear, sweet note of a hermit thrush. But until I claimed: 'Oh, dear! we only went to a movie. I didn't dream that you'd be worried, Cousin Columbine.'"

"No more I should have," snapped the old lady, "if Aurora hadn't happened on the idea. Mark Adam's better call up your mother. No doubt she's wondering where you are."

"And me, worryin' myself sick for nothin'," grumbled Aurora. "A movie! Not even a fat tire; and us wonderin' if your neck was broken."

"That day seemed long ago to Nancy when on an afternoon in February she went down the unkempt street, turned at the filling station and ascended a low hill on which stood the abandoned schoolhouse. "Excused in 1902," Cousin Columbine had told her, to replace the one destroyed by fire. It was a small, frame building with no pretense at beauty; but the girl paused for a moment to admire John Adam's handwork before she unlocked the door.

The air outside was warmer than within, and Nancy opened a window before proceeding with what Jack called "janitorial duties." The air-light stove must be lighted, and the whole place dusted before the first arrival should appear. These tasks completed, Nancy sat down behind the kitchen table which served as librarian's desk, and looked about with satisfaction.

Perhaps the girl didn't wholly realize that this satisfaction which was like nothing she had ever experienced before, was the result of having achieved something—something really worthwhile. She had had help, of course; but the idea had been her own, and Nancy had put it through triumphantly.

"I couldn't have done it without the others," she told herself, "but at least, they wouldn't have done it without me. It had never occurred to them; and Cousin Columbine was doubtful that the plan would work."

Yet, being no wet-blanket, the old lady had done her bit by arranging for the use of the schoolhouse, and writing to the Oklahoma family who came to Pine Ridge summers. This proved an inspiration, for they responded with a box of books and a beautiful Navaho rug in grey and scarlet which covered the centre of the floor, giving the place a homely look.

"I'll say it is!" Nancy spoke almost with awe. "I never expected anything so—so professional, and those Aladdin lamps at either end are stunning. Your father must have spent a lot of time on this sign, Mark. Can you put it up if we go over to the schoolhouse now?"

"I came prepared, lady; and there's a box of books at the station which our sweet young Denver cousin collected for you. Mark'll be down to finish the shelves this afternoon. My new lamp! Best!"

New Method Of Rust-Proofing

Shows No Rust After 1,000 Hours Of Salt Spraying

An entirely new method of rust-proofing, which, for the first time in the history of electro-chemistry, utilizes alternating current in the process, has been perfected by the Ford Motor Co., and is now being put on its entire production of head and tail lamps, at the Ford lamp plant at Flat Rock, Mich.—the famous "factory in a meadow."

The new process was adopted because it requires less floor space than other rustproofing methods, and the surface all ready for painting as the article comes from the rustproofing machine, and withstands at least 300 hours of salt spray test without deterioration. Tests of 1,000 hours under salt spray have shown no rust, Ford chemists say. This is the equivalent of many years of ordinary use.

The process, which was first developed outside the Ford organization, did not work well when Ford made the first commercial installation. The treated articles developed in part an "alligator" surface which was not fit for painting. It was finally decided the trouble arose from the lamp shells being too clean when they went into the zinc phosphate rustproofing bath. So instead of the shells going through a washing machine first, they are now made "dirty" by an operator who wipes over with an oily cloth the surface to be painted. The film of oil provides enough protection from the acid in the rustproofing bath for the acid has etched the steel.

The effect of the alternating electric current is to permit the articles to take up the zinc without interference from hydrogen bubbles which form on the surface of the article to be rustproofed in the absence of the electricity. The process is not electro-plating, however. In electro-plating, the article to be plated is the cathode of the electrical circuit, whereas in this new process the article is alternately cathode and anode, alternating 60 times a second.

World's Worst Volcano

Exudes Salts Of Ammonia Fumes That Suffocate Every Living Thing

Koh-i-Taftatan, known as the world's worst mountain, has again been in eruption. It is on the British-Persian boundary in Baluchistan, and for nearly 10 miles around it is the only mountain in the world which emits lava from its crater and exudes dense volumes of salt of ammonia. It suffocates every living thing and burns up the plants. It's activity was heralded by flight of frightened birds escaping from the dreadful fumes which suffocate and blind. No troops can be maintained near Koh-i-Taftatan, although it is on the frontier. "Mound of Hellfire" the Persians call it.

How Club Was Named

An organization of veteran New York printers is oddly named The Judgment Day Club. On the night the New York World suspended publication, a composing room employee remarked, "This is Judgment Day—it's the end of the World." And that's how the fraternity of old New York World printers got its name.

"Wot I say is, the man should have all the say in the home; that's wot I say."

"I say the same—only I don't say it."

A WORLD OF FLAVOR

Tracing Migration Stories

Skeletons Help Archaeologist Working On Lonely Island In North

The life story of successive waves of civilization which crossed the island stepping stones between Asia and America is being traced on lonely St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea.

The story—told in human skeletons, animal bones and broken utensils—is being preserved in paraffin. The work was described in a letter from the expedition headed by the noted Alaskan archaeologist, Dr. Otto Geist.

Aided by 30 or 40 Eskimo laborers from nearby Savoonga, the scientists are excavating skeletal remains and carefully brushing them with melted paraffin to preserve them for shipping to research laboratories.

Having removed much of the overburden and remains of camps, actively recent era in the eight past annual expeditions, the party this summer uncovered a layer of ancient culture antedating the discovery of the island by Captain Commander Vitus Bering on St. Lawrence's Day, Aug. 21 (10th old style) 1778.

The immigrants crossed over in seven successive waves, Dr. Geist believes, between Asia and America. Some earlier civilizations were of a higher culture than some of the later ones, he has determined.

Webster Air Trophy

Kingston Flyer Wins At Competition Held In Montreal

With a skillful display of airmanship, Pilot Gordon R. McGregor, president of the Kingston, Ont., Flying Club, captured the Webster memorial trophy and the title of Canada's foremost amateur aviator at Cartierville airport at Montreal.

Competition for the Webster trophy, awarded by the family of John C. Webster, of Sheldale, N.E., killed in a crash here several years ago, was held under the auspices of the Canadian Flying Clubs Association with the co-operation of the Montreal Light Aerophone Club. McGregor eliminated 11 other aviators, including two westerners, to gain the award.

Wes Hodgson, 18-year-old Regina newboy, who was competing in a secondhand plane purchased from his savings as a newboy, took every test but failed to gain enough points and finished last in the competition. "Well, I may have better luck next year," he said after hearing the results. Fred Lasby, of the Moose Jaw Flying Club, also competed.

Speed Of The Times

In 1920 it required 57 hours of human labor to grow an acre of wheat yielding twenty bushels, while to-day, we are told by T. A. Russell, of Toronto, it requires approximately eight hours. This is only keeping up with the speed of the times. We are travelling to-day more than seven times as fast as our grandparents did a hundred years ago.

The first university chair in the world devoted to the study of spiritualism is to be established shortly at Lund University in Stockholm, Sweden.

In the South Sea Islands, frigate birds are trained to carry messages like homing pigeons.

Little Helps For This Week

God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labor of love which ye have showed toward His name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister. Hebrews 6:10.

Wherever in the world I am, in whatsoever estate, I have a fellowship with hearts To keep and cultivate, And a work of love lowly to do For the Lord on whom I wait.

We do not always perceive that the commonest things, the writing of a note, the making of something in the kitchen measure, the design of our necessary intercourse with characters that have no congeniality with our own, may be made the performance of a most blessed and sacred work, even the carrying out, after the feeble measure, the design of God for the increase of happiness.

Definite work is not always that which is cut and squared for us, but that which comes as a claim upon the conscience.

Tackles Big Job

Mayor Of New York Aims To Make City Noiseless

New York City, with all its hustle, bustle and commotion, free of unnecessary noise, is the job tackled by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia. Shrieking autos, blaring radios, rumbling trucks and noisy garages—anything that makes a noise—are to be curbed. Even police patrol cars and fire engines must not use their sirens unnecessarily. Heading the mayor's planlet program is a month of "noiseless nights." He thinks everyone should be able to enjoy sleep, uninterrupted. That campaign will operate through October. Then, during November, will come a month of "noiseless days."

The mayor thinks that by the end of that month he'll have everybody enjoying 24 hours of quiet each day. The mayor has created the job of "NAC"—Noise Abatement Commissioner—and given the portfolio to Major Henry Curran. Major Curran now is in Europe studying noise abatement systems.

Rabbits Cause Floods

Dykes Burrowed Nearly Hollow, Reason For Their Collapse

Rabbits have been responsible for serious floods in the Swiss canton of Valais. Intense heat throughout Switzerland has melted an unprecedented quantity of snow, which has swollen the headwaters of the Rhone into flood tides. This rare contingency is provided against by dykes built on the banks of the rivers. These, however, collapsed due to the fact that they had been burrowed nearly hollow by a vast colony of rabbits.

Grows Billions Of Flowers

The number of flowers used in Grasse, France, in the manufacture of perfume staggers the imagination. In a single year ten billion jasmine blooms, about forty million pounds of roses and some fifty million pounds of orange blossoms are harvested for the great perfumers.

In addition Grasse sends out flowers by special trains to nearly every part of Europe.

W. J. BARTLETT, PUBLISHER

Blairmore, Alta., Thurs., Aug. 29, 1935

Among the appointments made by the Calgary school board, of teachers for the fall term, are noted the following former members of the Blairmore teaching staff: Miss C. L. Williams, B.A., Alexandra; Miss W. B. Williams, King Edward; Miss L. M. Perkins, Mount Royal; Miss B. Douglas, McDougall; Miss V. J. Keith, Parkhill; Miss E. M. Fulton, Sunnyside Bungalow; Miss M. T. Davis, B.A., Hillhurst Junior High; J. W. Verge, B.A., Riverside Junior High, principal.

And now come ones of those long-haired scientists who tell us that we are to have an odorless onion. Just think if it—an onion without the smell. What on earth is the use of an odorless onion? Why, for centuries, the one thing that the onion was famous for was its smell. And now they're threatening to unsmell it. Where is this kind of thing going to stop? If they succeed in deodorizing the onion, the next thing they'll be trying is to remove the odor of cooking cabbage. And who hasn't lingered in front of that home from which emanated the delicious odor of cooking cabbage—even when the corned beef was absent from the pot. (Ask Jiggs). There are many things from which the odor might be removed with profit to all—but, Mr. Scientist, have a heart—leave the onion alone.

The people of Alberta have spoken! In fact it might be said that they have hollered out loud. They have given the mandate to William Aberhart and his Social Credit group to undertake to re-establish the economic life of the province along new lines of thought, and while the mandate in members elected was not so completely unanimous as that accorded the Liberals in Prince Edward Island, the popular vote was far more for Social Credit in Alberta than for Liberalism in Prince Edward Island, where nine-sixteenths of the vote commanded one hundred per cent representation. Mr. Aberhart goes into power with a mandate even stronger than that given R. B. Bennett in the federal election of 1930. Here's hoping that he has observed what happens to a movement that fails to recast the sentiment, that gave it power.—Clareholm Local Press.

Once in a while we are tempted to remind some of our fellow citizens that this newspaper does not exist on wind. A newspaper is supposed to be of service to a community by reporting news, and in order to do this it must have cash returns. We know that we are fulfilling our obligations to the best of our ability with the funds that are available. We sell our services for what they are worth, we ask no charity, and we do not want support where our services are not valued by our customers. In order to publish a newspaper, we work long hours and short staffed, but we will not sit up all night in order to give free service to those who do not believe in newspaper advertising, who do not subscribe, who prefer to spend their money elsewhere, and who are better paid, and have more leisure time than ourselves. In justice to our subscribers, we expect to make revenue out of our advertising columns so that we can give them a newspaper that is worth while, and if we fail to obtain this, our newspaper suffers. Therefore, where our services are of value to others, they are expected to help pay the bill. There is no alternative—a newspaper does not exist on wind.—Macleod Gazette.

FIVE YEARS OF WAR SEEN IN ETHIOPIA

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Five years of guerrilla warfare was set yesterday by Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, zoological explorer of Ethiopia, as the price Italy must be prepared to pay. "A lot of money must also be expended in any attempt Mussolini makes at seizure of the finest piece of unappropriated real estate on the international horizon," Osgood said. "The Ethiopians in general are wild to get out and fight. They don't mind getting killed. But Haile Selassie is a smart man, and he's probably going to be wise enough to get the Italians to come in and won't attack until he sees an advantage." "Not a military expert," but familiar with Ethiopian land and people through nearly a year of life there, Osgood explored 2000 miles of Ethiopian territory with a zoological expedition several years ago. He described the country's wild districts as "the most horrible places on earth."

"They've been preparing for this for a long time," he declared, referring to the expected conflict. "They didn't know who it was going to be, but they knew it would be someone."

VALUE OF TOURIST TRAVEL

Tourist trade as between Canada and the United States shows a balance of $73,000,000 in favor of the dominion.

Last year Canadian tourists' personal expenditures in the United States amounted to $47,000,000, an increase of 34% over 1933, according to figures compiled by the Washington commerce department. During the same period, United States tourists to Canada spent $120,000,000, a total which will be exceeded considerably this year.

The increased expenditure of Canadian tourists in the United States is attributed to a 22% increase in the number of Canadian cars entering the States.

A Calgary Social Creditor spent twenty minutes on his knees near Race Horse creek a few days ago. He had never fished before and came back empty handed. His camera, perched on a stone near the river bank, ready to be snapped at the first fish bold enough to come ashore, is still there.

W. H. Moser, of Hillcrest, will open a music studio at Cranbrook, where he will attend on Saturday of each week. The Cranbrook Courier comments: Mr. Moser is no stranger to the people of Cranbrook, and those who have seen him in action at the different musical festivals, both here and at Blairmore, know that he is a most conscientious and indefatigable worker. He has had remarkably good success with his pupils, some of whom are now in the professional class. There is a possibility of Mr. Moser being induced to take over the leadership of the Cranbrook Symphony orchestra, which has been inactive since Mr. Raven left for the coast early last spring.

EDDIE, THE AD MAN

BUYER IS WISE TO PATRONIZE THE AMBITIOUS MERCHANT BECAUSE HE WILL SERVE YOU BETTER—YOU CAN TELL WHO THE AMBITIOUS STORE KEPTERS ARE—THEY ADVERTISE

Social Credit candidates in Alberta are in the position to look upon their opponents thusly: "Me big—you small."

The wife of a famous pugilist in the United States gave birth to a boy with a black eye. Well, what else could be expected?

COUNTER CHECK BOOKS—order them at The Enterprise office at the same price as you can get them at the factory, or from a traveller. Keep as much money as you can in Blairmore.

The old Union bank building, near the corner of Victoria Street and Fifth Avenue, is being moved away to give place for the large garage to be erected on the corner by Mr. C. Sartoris. Work of excavation for the foundation of the new structure has commenced. The old bank vault was recently acquired by the town of Blairmore and has been re-built in the town office.

The serious illness of Ruth, sixteen-year-old daughter of the Independent leader in the provincial legislature, Mr. F. C. Moyer, and Mrs. Moyer, which has been causing the family much concern in the past few weeks, brought Mr. Moyer rushing post haste back from the Crows' Nest Pass to Drumheller on Saturday, August 17th. Mr. Moyer was obliged to cancel several speaking engagements.

The story is told that when, while still in New Brunswick, R. B. Bennett proposed to a girl, and the latter said: "Come back and ask the question when you are premier of Canada." The joke now is on the girl. All four leaders are gifted speakers. They would have to be to have risen to their present eminence. Woodsworth has the distinction of being the member most easily heard in the house of commons. King's speeches read better than they sound, being a little disappointing in an oratorical show. Stevens is in his way the best balanced and most effective platform speaker of them all.—F.J.S., in the Cranbrook Courier.

WHICH ARE YOU?

I watched them tearing a building down—
A gang of men in a busy town.
With a ho-heave-ho and a lusty yell,
They swung a beam and the side wall fell.

I asked the foreman: Are those men skilled,
And the men you'd hire if you had to build?
He gave a laugh and said, "No, indeed!
Just common labor is all I need.
I can easily wreck in a day or two,
What builders have taken a year to do."

I thought to myself as I went my way—
Which of these roles have I tried to play
Am I a builder who works with care,
Measuring life by the rule and square
Am I shaping my deeds to a well made plan, Patiently doing the best I can;
Or am I a wrecker who walks the town,
Content with the labor of tearing down

There is talk of Aberhart starting a daily newspaper in Edmonton. Maybe it will be a mimeograph "daily" and appear once a week. Mr. Aberhart, however, states that he will not undertake the scheme if treated reasonably by Alberta dailies.

Tommy McKay, of The Enterprise staff, is on his annual vacation. By motor on Sunday, he accompanied Mrs. D. Kemp on a visit to her son James and Mrs. Kemp, and Mrs. A. Decoux on a visit to her brother Charles and Mrs. Howe, to Kimberley, returning to Blairmore on Tuesday. Miss Agnes Kemp, who had been visiting in Kimberley, returned with the party.

SUGGESTED SOCIAL CREDIT CABINET

One of the main items of business at the Calgary caucus of the newly-elected Social Credit members will be the selection of the members of the cabinet to act with Mr. Aberhart when he takes over the government on September the 3rd. Here is one guess:

Premier and Provincial Secretary—Wm. Aberhart.
Provincial Treasurer—E. Manning, Calgary.
Attorney-General—John W. Huggill, K.C., Calgary.
Minister of Lands and Mines—O. G. Devenish, Calgary.
Minister of Education—S. A. G. Barnes, Edmonton.
Minister of Public Works—Fred Anderson, Calgary, or Hans E. Wright, Lethbridge.
Minister of Agriculture—James Hansen, Taber.
Minister of Health—Dr. W. W. Cross, Hanna.
Minister of Trade and Industry—R. E. Ansley, Leduc.
Minister of Municipal Affairs—W. A. Fallow, Vermilion.
Minister without portfolio—Mrs. W. W. Rogers, Ponoka—Red Deer Advocate.

A little son of a minister had been very naughty, and as punishment he was not allowed to eat with the rest of the family. A small table was set aside for him. On being given his food at this table for the first time, the little chap said solemnly: "Lord, I thank Thee. Thou hast spread a table before me in the presence of mine enemies."

Canada has 5,806,508 voters, according to the latest census.

The new miners' agreement, which accepts the five per cent increase in wages, is being signed at Drumheller.

The burning of a farm home thirty-eight miles west of Edmonton cost the lives of three children and their mother, Mrs. Olga Adams.

Dr. J. N. Hutchinson, principal for many years of Central high school at Calgary, will succeed Mr. Aberhart as principal of Crescent high.

Registrar of marriages (to youthful bridegroom): "The young lady is not a minor, is she?"

Bridegroom: "Oh, no, she works in a fish shop."

A tramp came to our door the other day and thus approached the missus: "Lady, I'm a sick man. A nice doctor gave me some medicine and I would like to ask you to give me something to take it with."

Missus: "You would like a spoon and a glass of water, I suppose."

Tramp: "No, mum, not that. The doctor said I was to take the medicine after meals, an' I thought you'd contribute the meal."—Ex.

Just Desperate!
Gene: "Has the depression hit you yet?"

Bill: "I'll say it has. First, I lost my job and went back to the old man's to live; sent my children to the orphan's home; my wife went back to her mother, and I shot my dog."

Gene: "That's bad."

Bill: "Yes, sir; if times get any worse I'm afraid I'll have to give up my car."

OH, WHAT A FISH!

Slim Bassett, Joe English and Maurice Wall returned from a week-end fishing trip with a 21-pound Dolly Varden trout. According to the story that Joe tells, the fish was caught in the Crows' Nest, Slim getting the strike and Joe jumping in the water to throw out the fish before it broke the line and got away, while Maurice stood on the bank and hollered. This is the kind of a fish sober fishermen dream about and those not so sober sometimes talk about. But this fish was exhibited in state in Ramage's meat market on Monday while envious fishermen streamed in to take a view. From our own experiences in fishing, and while we actually viewed this specimen, we were tempted to say, like the man at the circus looking at a giraffe for the first time, "there ain't no such animal!"—Clareholm Local Press.

This little pig, just before he became a road-hog, was on his way to market. He was only a small pig, too, and he was in a sack in the front seat of a car being driven by Matt Johnson, a Minnesota farmer who had his 2-year-old grand-daughter with him for company. "The suspense is killing me," granted the little porker, so he wriggled across the floor, sack and all, and squatted on the accelerator. Out of control and upside down in a slough went the car, Johnson and grand-daughter soaked but uninjured. The little pig—he went to market all right.

Fernie will stage a field program on Labor Day.

YES, It's True

That The Enterprise is owned by an individual. It's his property and he must pay the bills and assume all responsibilities. On the other hand, it is also true that somehow or other the public looks upon the community newspaper as being partly their property. The community expects its public institutions to be defended, to be favorably reported, to be kept in good report throughout the district and the province. Churches, societies and organizations look for and expect their activities to be reported in their home paper. And the home paper does all these things—likes to do them. This being so, it is only human that the owner of, and those who are employed at, the local newspaper office should expect that all these various interests would return the compliment through giving it printing orders. If all the printing requirements of Blairmore were to be printed in our workshop, The Enterprise would have to nearly double its present staff.

HOW AN EGG IS MADE

It has always been recognized that extremely complex processes are involved in the manufacture of eggs by the laying hen. The ovary and the oviduct constitute the reproduction tract. The yolks are formed in the ovary and pass through the oviduct in which the various layers of albumen, the shell membranes and the shell are built around the yolk. Food material is carried by the blood stream to these organs and built into the egg. Different parts of the oviduct manufacture different components of the egg, such as thick white, thin white, shell membranes and shell. The general characteristics of an egg, such as color, size and shape are determined by the kind of material that composes the nucleus of the cells of the individual hen. This material is inherited by the hen from her parents.

These facts have been known for some time, but the interesting thing which has been discovered recently is the fact that the activity of the oviduct and ovary is regulated by chemical substances carried by the blood stream. There are several of these chemical substances known as reproductive hormones, each originating from a particular gland and each having a definite function in the process of egg formation. Of these there are two main hormones, the female hormone and the pituitary hormone originating from the ovary and the pituitary gland respectively. The former causes the oviduct to grow and enlarge until it reaches the stage where it can produce albumen, while the latter is manufactured and thrown into the blood stream by the pituitary gland and causes the ovary to grow and develop yolks and to pour female hormones into the blood stream.

The pituitary gland is the instigator of the reproductive processes. Upon removal of this gland the reproductive organs of both male and female birds shrink to an extremely small size; the males look like true capons and the females like poultards.

The study of sex hormones in domestic poultry is one of considerable economic importance since these hormones regulate not only the processes concerned in producing eggs, but those concerned in producing fertile eggs of high hatching qualities. Studies are at present in progress at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, dealing with the relation between these hormones and the mechanics of egg formation, from which several interesting points have emerged.

MILES AND MILES FOR SMILES

The young sirens of Callander are certainly "doing their stuff." At the latest computations, they were luring tourists off the beaten path at the rate of 10,000 cars a month.

Every time the smiling quintuplets are held up to the gaze of the curious through beyond the wire fence which surrounds the Dionne hospital, it means that the fame of the youngsters spreads still further abroad and more and more tourists may be expected. It means money for the provincial treasury, too, if the estimate is correct that nearly $12,000 a month in gasoline taxes is being paid by visitors to the quintuplets' home.

That means 200,000 gallons of gasoline are being used in that period, or at estimate of 4,000,000 miles travelled. That means 10,000 cars, with an average trip of 400 miles each. That is really not too high an average per trip, because many of the license plates carry the names of California, Florida and Texas, and they all go up the North Bay highway for the express purpose of seeing the babies.

Make Your Own Job

Conditions throughout the world during the past five years have admittedly been most discouraging to all people, but especially so to youth. As boys and girls have come out of school and college, ready to take their place in the business world, even at the bottom of the ladder, they have discovered there was no place for them. They have been denied even the opportunity of making a start because the financial world has been out of joint, with business marking time, and no development work being undertaken.

As a result, thousands have become discouraged, embittered because of denied and frustrated hopes and ambitions, have become drifters because they have lost hope for the future and accepted the evil but mistaken view that present conditions must be accepted as permanent conditions. Lacking any background of years in which work was plentiful, and having no experience in profitable employment, they can see no light ahead.

Such an attitude of mind is a terrible mistake. Future years will be just as bright, in fact brighter; just as busy, in fact busier; just as rich in opportunity and in enterprising development, in fact more so. The world will not stand still; neither it will move backward. Since the beginning of time and the dawn of civilization, the movement, despite temporary setbacks, has always been both onward and upward. It will continue so.

Consider the most familiar names of people and products on the lips of practically everybody to-day—Henry Ford, Firestone, H. J. Heinz, Coca-Cola, Borden's Milk, Hires' Root Beer, Welch's Grape Juice, Maxwell House Coffee, Jell-O, and similar names. Do these names mean anything to the youth of to-day?

It was in 1890 that Henry Ford began working on a double-cylinder engine in a little shop on his farm. When he went to work in Detroit at $4.50 a month he took his shop along, and in 1893 his gasoline buggy was running and for a long time was the only automobile in Detroit. Forty years later he was rated a billionaire.

Firestone was a buggy salesman who became convinced there was a great future in the rubber business. He bought strips of rubber, cut out crude solid tires and fitted them to buggy wheels. Thus began the great tire industry of to-day.

H. J. Heinz used to grow horse-radish in his garden and peddle it from door to door. This backyard venture put him on the road to becoming Heinz 57.

In 1886 a doctor in Atlanta stood working over a kettle in an old house. On the next corner was a drugstore, and periodically the doctor rushed over, squirted carbonated water into a glass containing a sample of syrup, and tasted the mixture. After about 300 attempts he had the first Coca-Cola.

While holidaying in New Jersey, Charles E. Hires was served a drink by a farmer's wife. Its ingredients were sassafras, tamarind, and sweet fern, all gathered locally. Hires smacked his lips. Returning home he experimented with herbs, roots and bark. Thus was Hires' Root Beer born.

John Wanamaker, the great merchant prince of the United States, discovered his first bill of goods from a wheelbarrow. Adam Gluebel, founder of the stores which bear his name, started with a pack on his back. Timothy Eaton started in a little corner lot store. The story of Woolworth's five-and-ten cent stores is too well known to call for repetition. The great Crane Company, manufacturers of piping, valves, bath-room fixtures, etc., had its inception in a little brass foundry.

These great enterprises of to-day had very humble beginnings, many of them within the life of the present generation. Opportunities are just as good to-day. "What's going to alter our lives is probably happening this minute in a backyard workshop, where some crank is thinking by himself," Henry Ford declared recently. "Another man states it this way: 'Many of the million-dollar corporations of to-morrow are starting to-day with little capital but an idea. They are beginning in attics, cellars, and in the minds of clerks behind store counters.'"

Recently the head of a huge business in the United States selling many different products told about four new products, all launched since January, 1930, and now selling widely. David was not afraid of Goliath, and observant youth with an idea or capable of assimilating one, with vision, enterprise and daring can just as successfully win out against the Goliaths of big corporations.

To quote Henry Ford again, who recently said that unemployed people "should create their own businesses, no matter how small, instead of waiting for some one to give them a job." And as a writer in Forbes Magazine, from which much of the above is taken, says: "Ten years from now we will be reading more success stories gathered from the kitchens and cellars of 1935." No one who has a work-bench or a stove and a dollar—and an idea—has any need to be discouraged.

Strange Service

700 Deaf Mutes Worship In St. Paul's Cathedral

One of the strangest and most touching services ever held under the mighty dome of St. Paul's cathedral on a recent Sunday saw 700 deaf and dumb persons from 14 nations pray and sing loudly. A sound being heard. They were athletes attending the fourth international games for the deaf and mute held in London. The service was conducted in the international sign language. Chaplains and missionaries mounted the lofty pulpit and voicelessly acted out the prayers, hymns and songs with eloquent looks and gestures.

Then the congregation joined in prayers and hymns.

Shipment Of Eggs From England Made As Experiment

A few dozen English eggs are making history. Thirty of them arrived in Sydney, Australia, after an air journey from London to Brisbane, and a railway journey of 500 miles from Brisbane to Sydney. The rest reached Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, after travelling more than 6,000 miles from London by airplane and Graf Zeppelin. Now Lord Greenway, the promoter of the experiment, is anxiously awaiting special letters from Australia and Brazil reporting on their condition on arrival. If the eggs are successfully hatched out, one of the greatest problems of poultry farmers throughout the world will be solved. Under present conditions it is impossible for poultry farmers in distant parts to renew their stocks by introducing young chicks from England.

For So-Called Luxuries

Bureau Of Statistics Has Issued Some Interesting Figures

What are luxuries? The Dominion Bureau of Statistics started to compile figures on the luxuries produced and consumed in Canada in a year, and was confronted with the difficulty that one man's luxury is another man's ordinary, every-day comfort. This is true of food, furniture, clothes and so on. Even tobacco is claimed by some to be a necessity. So the bureau finally decided to list everything as a luxury which is actually above the line of necessities. It included, therefore, such things as carpets, silverware, jams and cooked meats, and so, naturally. It did not present its conclusions as a hard-and-fast statement of luxury consumption in Canada, but rather "an attempt to throw some light on the production and consumption in Canada of goods which are more or less in the nature of luxuries." It found that the factory value of these in 1933 was $268,808,185, or 1.24 per cent of the total value of production in Canadian manufacturing industries. The retail values would, of course, be much higher.

The bureau also obtained Canadian consumption figures by subtracting exports from the figures for imports and production. It found that in 1933 the so-called luxuries were consumed to a factory value of $268,342,910.

Some of the individual items are rather interesting. Canada eats candy to the extent of nearly $17,300,000 per year; ice cream, to the extent of more than $7,300,000; the confectionery, including chewing gum, over $6,000,000. Pies, cakes and pastry account for more than $10,500,000; beverages (not including tea, coffee, cocoa, etc.), nearly $21,000,000; silk hosiery (which the bureau says is not often considered a luxury nowadays), nearly $8,400,000; toilet preparations, over $5,000,000. These are all factory values.

The surprising item in the list is that for tobacco, as follows:

	1931	1933
Cigars	$ 6,016,138	$ 4,765,393
Cigarettes	36,132,977	34,912,411
Other	32,842,202	31,590,679

$74,991,347 $71,274,413

These again are factory values. For passenger automobiles, bicycles and boats, the people of the Dominion paid the manufacturers less than half what they did for tobacco in both these years: $28,254,984 in 1932 and $24,518,970 in 1933.—Toronto Daily Star.

Severity For Prisoners Demanded By German Minister Of Justice

"Severity" for prisoners as a Nazi tenet was demanded by Franz Gürtner, minister of justice, at the opening of the 11th quinquennial penal penitentiary congress in Berlin. "If criminal law is to represent atonement for wrong done the community," he told the delegates from 50 nations, "and hence defend and protect the national community from evil-doers, the logical result is severity in the treatment of prisoners so the punishment may be appreciable to the evil."

Gürtner also announced that the Nazi reich has definitely rejected the ancient legal principle: "Nulla poena sine lege" (no punishment unless a law is infringed). Instead, he said, it has substituted the maxim: "Nulla crimen sine poena," under which, punishment is meted out regardless of the incompleteness of a law.

Celebrating Anniversary

Violin Industry Started In Germany Fourteen Years Ago

Mittenwald, Germany, a village in the mountains of Bavaria, is now celebrating the 25th anniversary of its violin industry, begun in the 17th century by Mathias Klotz.

Throughout the summer the town presented a play, "The Song of the Stars," telling the story of Klotz and his wanderings over Italy, where he learned instrument making. The play will be staged again this winter at a nearby town as part of the entertainment for the winter Olympics. The story of Mathias Klotz is a romantic one. When he was a boy of 10 his peasant family sent him to Italy to study under famous violin makers there. Twenty years later he returned to Mittenwald, opening his own workshop. Apprentices flocked to him and soon he established the fame of the town for the instruments, a reputation Mittenwald retains to-day.

After making a number of instruments, Klotz's craftsmen had to go out into the world themselves to sell them. Strapping their violins on their backs they wandered through nearby countries, giving demonstrations and making sales in castles and great monasteries.

Extending Education To Those Out Of Reach Of Schools

Nine years ago the Ontario department of education started correspondence courses for persons out of reach of school either for the whole school year or part of the summer months. The courses were intended also for those, physically unable to attend school, for whom no provision was made for education.

During the last school year the enrolment was 1,800 of whom 50 were physically unable to attend school. The courses are free and the department pays all expenses. Average cost of educating a pupil for a year in this manner is from $12 to $15.

Marking The Ballot

Strange As It May Seem, Many Voters Must Find The Job

Placing an X beside a candidate's name is a simple task but at the approaching Dominion general election it is likely 25,000 or more electors will find the job.

In the 1930 contest 24,119 lost their votes through improperly marked ballots and there are more parties and candidates this time to confuse the voter.

Parliament places the ballots in the hands of voters and supplies pencils to mark them. That is as much as it can do. Electors have only to make the crosses themselves. Yet in 1930 ballots were rejected in every constituency in Canada.

Markings in addition to the cross, use of a pen or colored pencil instead of the black pencil provided and signing of the ballot by the voter are the most frequent causes of spoiled ballots.

Through habit many men use their fountain pens and deputy returning officers throw out their ballots. On recounts, however, judges frequently have ruled such ballots valid. The Election Act says the cross must be made with a black pencil.

Many persons start to mark their X opposite the wrong name, score it out and then mark it opposite the candidate they wish to support. This spoils the ballot. They should ask the deputy returning officer for a new one.

Many electors ask why all this fuss about markings when the voter's choice is plainly indicated? The answer is that precautions are necessary to discourage bribery. They are the culmination of years of experience with elections, the frailties of human nature, and the cunning of some politicians.

In the '90's and earlier when the population was small, party workers knew which voters were Conservative, which Liberal and those "on the fence." Of the undecided variety some would sell their votes and the temptation of workers in a close race was strong.

But unless the vote buyer could be sure those he bought went to his candidate there was no use buying them.

Many ingenious devices were used to allow party scrutineers to identify ballots while they were being counted. The result has been the regulations to prevent distinguishing marks.

Electors who claim there is very little direct bribery now. Ridings are so populous and party affiliations of voters so indefinite it would cost too much. In addition there is the almost certain risk of the election being voided.

King Pleased With Jubilee Offering From Free State

The Jubilee present which Loyalists in the Irish Free State have given King George is declared to be not only nationally acceptable but most acceptable to His Majesty. It is a beautiful antique silver potato ring. These rings, which measure up to a foot in diameter, were in vogue in the centre of the dining table and within them were placed the potatoes, cooked in their jackets, to keep them from rolling about. Reminiscent of the days when the potato was the staple diet even of the wealthy, a sixteenth century ring of good design has sold a portion for considerably over $5,000. The King is as devoted to old silver as the Queen is to antique furniture.

Wiley Post

Some Of The Aerial Exploits Of This Famous Flyer

Here are the aerial exploits of Wiley Post, who with Will Rogers, film comedian, was killed in an airplane crash in Alaska.

With Harold Gatty, Post flew around the world in eight days, 15 hours, and 15 minutes, in 1931.

In 1933, he made a solo round-the-world flight, in seven days, 18 hours, and 49 1/2 minutes.

The following year, Post announced he would concentrate on the practical side of aviation. He made two sensational high altitude trips over his home town of Bartlesville, Okla., wearing a "super-charged suit" of his own design.

Post made four unsuccessful attempts to make a transatlantic flight through the stratosphere. Each time he was forced down on the way from Burbank, Cal., to New York, the last failure June 1, this year.

He used but one ship in all of his achievements—the "Winnie Mae."

CLEAN SWEEP FOR SOCIAL CREDIT PARTY IN ALBERTA

Calgary. — Alberta will have a Social Credit government, headed by William Aberhart, the 57-year-old Calgary founder of the Alberta Social Credit League.

In its initial bid for power, and the first time the electors of a Canadian province have ever been offered a Social Credit administration, the league candidates made a sweep of the rural ridings.

Surrounded by members of the Social Credit league in Calgary, Mr. Aberhart, who was not a candidate, received the election returns at the Prophetic Bible institute, which he founded here some years ago. It was here he organized the Social Credit league.

In an address to his followers, Leader Aberhart declared:

"I feel our opponents failed because they were fighting against the greatest economic movement that had ever been seen. He who fights against 'truth and progress' fights a losing battle," he added.

He described the election as a "revolution of ballots instead of bullets," and appealed to all those who had opposed his movement to make the organization unanimous.

"Come on now, fellows, join us," he invited.

"You can find no better place for security than in Alberta. We have no intention of confiscation or repudiation by any way, shape, or form," he declared.

Experts will be in the establishing of Social Credit in Alberta, and Mr. Aberhart has announced he will bring Major C. H. Douglas, British economist and founder of the world-known "Douglas System of Social Credit," to Edmonton to assist in the initial administration work.

Thousands of Albertans are promised benefits under a Social Credit government.

The major benefit will be the payment of a $25 a month dividend to all bona fide citizens. How many citizens will come under this classification in the province's population of 750,000 could not be estimated immediately. The government will, as one of its first duties, name the qualifications for "bona fide" citizenship. Length of residence in the province will, it is understood, be the major qualification.

Ready to lead his party as premier, Mr. Aberhart will have to seek office in a by-election. It is planned to make a seat for him at an early date.

Medal for Eskimo

To Receive Recognition For Services Rendered

Montreal.—Within the next few days "John L.", Southampton Island Eskimo, will receive the king's jubilee medal, the only member of his race selected for the award. This bit of news was brought back here by Dr. C. C. Birchard, Montreal physician, who spent five weeks aboard the Nascopee cruising around northern waters.

Famous as the skipper of a 60-foot Hudson Bay schooner for the last 10 years, "John L." is known to practically every exploring party that has entered the Arctic, Dr. Birchard said. As a reward for his services in aiding white men of the frozen north, "John L." will be presented with the medal by Major D. L. McKend, director of the Northwest Territories branch of the department of the interior. Major McKend is in charge of the government party aboard the Nascopee.

Highway Improvements

Work To Commence On Road Between Winnipeg And Brandon

Winnipeg, Man. — Extensive improvements on the Trans-Canada highway between Winnipeg and Brandon will be undertaken shortly by the provincial department of public works.

This work is to be paid for on a 50-50 basis by Dominion and province.

Tenders have been called for by Hon. W. R. Clubb, minister of public works and labor, for asphaltizing 25 miles of the highway west of Fortage in Prairie, for grading and graveling eight miles of highway west of Headingley, and for constructing five treated timber bridges at different points along the highway.

The American public pays undertakers, florists and monument makers $10,000,000 a week for its funerals.

March Of Troops

Preparations For War Seen In Italy

Rome.—Italy's military consciousness grew steadily as the extent to which the emperor of the nation are bound up in preparations for an East African war became increasingly clear.

"The streets of Rome continually resounded to the measured tread of detachments of troops moving through the capital on their way to embarkation points. Uniformed men were everywhere—streets, sidewalk cafes, restaurants, parks and shops. Military news dominated space in newspapers."

The Giornale d'Italia extended the editorial olive branch to Great Britain, but the offer was on the promise that Britain should come to appreciate the validity of Italy's East African policy. It argued Italian occupation of Ethiopia would be to Britain's advantage because it would be a "stable presence."

Bomb Proof Shelter Being Built At Addis Ababa

Addis Ababa.—The British legation has taken steps to construct a bomb proof shelter for the small British force that will protect the legation in the event Italy attacks Ethiopia.

The British purchased 6,000 square yards of heavy, corrugated, galvanized iron sheets for the shelters.

These also will provide quarters for British civilians.

Simla, India.—An official announced that Indian troops were being dispatched from Bombay to reinforce the guard at the British legation in Addis Ababa.

Says Consent Needed

Closing Of Suez Canal Must Have Approval Of France

London. — United States Senator James P. Pope of Idaho, stated here that Great Britain is powerless to close the Suez canal to Italy, in the event of war, without the approval of France.

"The British government cannot act because of the peculiar ownership set-up of the canal," he said. "I have learned that the British government owns only 44 per cent. of canal shares, the remaining 56 per cent. being public traded, with most of them held by the French."

"The board of Suez directors is composed of one Dutchman, 10 Englishmen, and 20 French, with important executive offices held by Frenchmen."

Free Of Rust

Alberta Crops Escape Damage And Some Good Yields Expected

Calgary.—Alberta crops are free of rust this year and "bumper" yields are expected in some areas, Dr. G. B. Sanford, head of the Dominion laboratory of plant pathology, University of Alberta, reported here on his return from an inspection tour.

Dr. Sanford, who visited fields from Edmonton to Lethbridge, east to Medicine Hat and through the irrigation areas, estimated crops on irrigated lands south of High River would average 25 bushels to the acre. In Calgary district and north, he said, the return will be much higher, while around Olds and Lacombe some real "bumpers" were expected.

To Pay For Road

Soviet Government Accepts Flour From Japan

Tokyo. — The Soviet government has contracted to take 400,000 sacks of Japanese flour in part payment for the former Chinese Eastern railway and further similar orders are anticipated, according to the newspaper Yomiuri.

The transaction is believed largely responsible for a considerable rise in the prices of Japanese wheat and flour.

The agreement by which Manchukuo bought the railway provides that after the first payment in cash, further payments might be in products of Manchukuo or Japanese origin.

Prairie Crop Estimate

Cabinet Transacts Business

Passes Orders To Be Approved By Governor-General

Ottawa.—Cabinet council sitting Aug. 20 for the first time in a week, passed some orders-in-council respecting the Public Works Construction Act. It was learned, but no details will be made known until they have been approved by the governor-general or his deputy.

It was assumed the contracts referred to the railway equipment orders for which, under the Supplementary Public Works Construction Act of last session, $15,000,000 was voted. Under that act the government was empowered to advance money to finance rail equipment orders for both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, repayable by arrangements as an unemployment relief measure.

No appointments were made, Prime Minister Bennett said, at conclusion of the council's session. It is expected a minister of marine will be appointed shortly, this being the only outstanding vacancy now remaining.

A THRIFT DRIVE INAUGURATED BY PREMIER HEPBURN

Toronto.—Economy screws, tightened by the Ontario cabinet in a special session, squeezed out the Ontario agricultural development board and started a thrift drive which Premier Hepburn said would affect three major departments, health, northern development and relief.

The agricultural development board, thrown entirely into the discard, was organized by the former Drury government. Provision was made to collect the $49,000,000 invested in farm loans.

Final winding-up of the farm loan business will be made under the direction of James Fraser.

The premier said the government was not barring farmers from loans by this action because the federal government had stepped into the field. He added the government of late had to borrow money to re-lend under the agricultural development scheme.

Orders were given to 49 inspectors working for the board that their services would be required no longer. Work of the inspectors, one to each $100,000 invested in farm loans, had been to inspect farms as loan risks and to work in the collection routine. They cost the government on an average of $10,000 a month, Mr. Hepburn estimated.

Latest figures showed there were 16,500 farm loans made and more than 500 farms were on the government's hands.

Mr. Hepburn said it was costing the government more than 33½ per cent. to collect on either the interest or the capital.

Thanksgiving Day

Changed From Monday To Thursday This Year

Ottawa.—Opposition to any further change in the date of Thanksgiving Day for this year was expressed by Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state. Churches favored Thursday instead of Monday for the holiday.

The secretary of state has responsibility for deciding the date. Originally it was fixed for Monday, Oct. 14, but when that was selected as election day, Thanksgiving was moved to Oct. 24, a Thursday.

"For over 40 years," Mr. Cahan said in a statement, "Thanksgiving Day was always fixed for a Thursday in October. The day as the king's proclamation always states is fixed as 'a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God' for the blessings with which Canada has been favored during the year."

"In later years the churches of Canada have complained that as a weekend holiday the religious character of Thanksgiving Day has been almost completely lost sight of, and that the day has become one for holiday, excursions and frivolous entertainments, which are not consistent with the objects for which the day was originally set aside."

Alaskan Airman May Be Awarded Distinguished Flying Cross

Washington. — The Distinguished Flying Cross was asked for Joseph E. Crosson, Alaskan airman who flew the bodies of Will Rogers and Wiley Post from Point Barrow to their homeland, by the Alaska delegate in congress. Delegate A. J. Dimond pointed to other outstanding flights by Crosson including the discovery of the body of Carl Ben Elson lost on the Siberian coast, his aid to Wiley Post when the latter was setting a globe-circling record, and other humanitarian flights in the northland.

Keep Tab On Speed

Automatic Movie Camera For Campbell's Bluebird

London.—A small automatic movie camera will be installed in the cockpit of Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird when the British speed king attempts to drive his racer 300 miles per hour on the plains of Utah next month.

The camera will make a continuous record of the instruments' reading while the great car thunders over the course, and not only will afford an authentic record of the revolutions attained, but will permit Sir Malcolm to keep his eyes off the instruments and concentrate on driving.

Arrest Suspected Spies

Two Nazis Taken Into Custody By French Police

Mets, France.—Police announced they had uncovered ultra-modern methods used by alleged German spies with the arrest of two Nazis.

Louis Altmyer, 25, and Jean Huettinger, 20, public police called "go-betweens" for another alleged spy, were nabbed as they crossed the border.

Authorities said Altmyer had a pocket lamp capable of throwing red and green beams, enabling him to signal in code over long distances. Police claimed both men confessed to espionage. They are being held in jail.

If Great Britain Goes To War New Zealand Would Be Involved

Wellington.—Premier George W. Forbes has reiterated that any war in which Great Britain became involved was automatically the concern of New Zealand.

While the prime minister was addressing a public meeting he was heckled regarding his statement, during his recent visit to Canada, that if Britain went to war New Zealand would automatically participate. Mr. Forbes replied that was merely a repetition of a previous statement in parliament, that if Britain became involved in war this country also would be involved.

Dr. Dafoe Says Quintuplets Need More Sleep

Calander, Ont.—The five little Dionne girls are not yet sufficiently grown-up to do without sleep and as a result Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, their physician, has decreed their public appearance must be reduced from four daily to a couple of showings.

"It is just a precautionary measure," said Dr. Dafoe, who explained so many people had been visiting the hospital daily for each of the four appearances that the sleep of the babies was being interrupted.

FEDERAL FUND WILL ELIMINATE LEVEL CROSSINGS

Ottawa.—With $1,000,000 at its disposal for the elimination of level crossings, the board of railway commissioners is awaiting applications from local authorities for expenditures from the fund, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, chairman of the board, announced. As a general rule, the board will pay 70 per cent. of the cost of crossing elimination out of the fund, leaving 30 per cent. to be paid by the province, municipality or railway interested.

The money was appropriated by parliament under the Public Works Construction Act, passed last session. The governor-in-council is authorized to determine the amount to be paid from the fund and by railways, provinces and municipalities to the improvement of particular crossings for the protection of motor traffic. All applications so far approved have been on the basis of 70 per cent. from the fund.

"A number of applications have already been received by the board," said Mr. Guthrie, "for expenditures out of this fund, and up to the present time 15 applications have been approved from various parts of Canada involving an expenditure of $432,000."

By provinces, the applications so far approved are: British Columbia, $12,400; Saskatchewan, $35,480; Ontario, $300,967.32; Quebec, $4,950; Nova Scotia, $78,929.66. No applications have yet been received from the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island.

BRITAIN IS FIRM IN RESOLVE TO PREVENT WAR

London.—Great Britain, an advised informant told the Associated Press, will go to any length under the league covenant to try to prevent war in Africa.

If other powers join her, he said, she will subscribe not only to financial and economic pressure upon the aggressor but to the use of military, naval and air sanctions. (In other words, display of force.) She will even consider joint closure of the Suez canal.

The informant said the cabinet, in emergency session, decided to seek a peaceful settlement by every possible device but, if that fails, to advocate the use of the strongest league instruments available provided — and this was the detail — she does not stand alone. Britain does not intend to police the world single-handedly, he said.

The cabinet emphasized, the informant said, its determination to support the covenant of the league and all treaties.

He added the League of Nations must decide the type of sanctions to be employed in event of hostilities and how forcefully they are likely to be employed.

The decisions were reached toward the close of a four and three-quarters hour meeting during which the ministers solemnly reviewed the whole problem.

The keynote of the cabinet's decision was embodied in the statement made July 31 by Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, in the house of commons when he said: "I do not think there need be any doubt . . . we are fully conscious of our obligations under our treaties and under the covenant and that we certainly intend to uphold them."

The government will continue to keep the Dominions and the United States closely advised and its progress in new peace efforts. However, the cabinet remained firmly opposed to single-handed action as far as sanctions against nations are concerned, in order exclusively to avoid assuming the role of sole policeman of European peace. Great Britain will continue to work with France in the peace efforts.

Contrary to expectations, no official statement of the cabinet proceedings was issued, the decisions arrived in it being announced unofficially and informally.

The 22 ministers assembled held a full report from Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs, of the abortive conference in Paris with representatives of France and Italy.

The question of Dominion participation in any measures that might be taken was not raised by the foreign secretary. In any event this is a question solely for the governments concerned, and so far none have deemed it necessary to make any pronouncement.

The Dominions have the opportunity to state their views on the problem when the league assembly meets September 9. Australia is at present the only Dominion on the council.

Drouth Plan

Interest Shown In Water Development Scheme

Ottawa.—More than 4,800 farmers and ranchers throughout the drouth area of the prairie provinces had applied for assistance under the water development scheme organized as part of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act. Agriculture Minister Robert Weir stated.

"The problem of supplying a more adequate and dependable water supply for domestic use and livestock, and for irrigation where feasible, for the growing of feed and garden stuff is a vital one for many farms and ranches," he said.

"Of the total applications received to date, nearly 350 are from Manitoba, over 2,800 from Saskatchewan, and somewhere around 1,400 from Alberta."

Repair Costs Heavy

Edmonton. — The crushing blow which flood waters dealt to the lines of the Northern Alberta railways last month will necessitate immediate repair conservatively estimated at $250,000, it was believed in railway circles. Agriculture Minister Robert Weir stated.
